

The Office of the Clerk of the House maintains an up-to-date account all House proceedings. The Clerk's Floor Summary page details the most recent activities on the floor, including information on which bills will be debated on a legislative day. The website also offers detailed "Roll Calls" showing how each member of the House votes any time a vote is called. A complete schedule of when the House will be in session is available below.

- House Session Schedule\(112th Congress - 2nd Session\)

Schedule for my Committees

I serve on the House Appropriations Committee where I am the ranking member of the Homel and Security Appropriations Subcommittee

. I am also a member of the Appropriations subcommittees covering housing and transportation

and legislative branch

appropriations.

- Scheduled Hearings and Mark-ups

Watch the House Live @ Houselive.gov

Houselive.gov offers live video of House floor proceedings. The Houselive.gov website also has a search function to help you find speeches or votes from a specific day. If the House is in session while you're on this page, you'll be able to watched the proceedings on the player below.

The Daily Digest & Congressional Record

The Daily Digest is a complete summary of the full proceedings in both the House and Senate. The Daily Digest is a part of the Congressional Record, a complete transcript of all official debates and proceedings in the House. You can search the Congressional Record online for each Congress dating back to the 101st (1989-1991).

Find a Bill

In 1995, the Library of Congress launched the THOMAS website. Named after President Thomas Jefferson, the THOMAS system makes information on all pending House activities available to the public. Using THOMAS, you can find information on bills pending before Congress, including the bill's status in the House and Senate, number of co-sponsors, and the bill's full text.

- Search for a Bill
- See for Bills I wrote or Co-Sponsored